KSA Agritech

Founded in 2018, RedSea aims to solve a complex global problem: How to feed more than 10 billion people sustainably. Today, the company is a leading, Saudi-based, sustainable AgTech company advancing commercial farming in hot climates globally with proprietary roots-to-roof technologies that enable higher yields, profitability, and sustainability, offering immediate benefits to growers while saving fresh water and energy in high-heat, water-scarce environments. Deployed worldwide, RedSea products tackle the real and increasingly urgent challenges of extreme heat and water scarcity in agriculture.
